

8th Annual Winter Hike

Saturday, January 17, 2009

“January observations can be almost as simple and peaceful as snow, and almost as continuous as cold. There is time not only to see who has done what, but to speculate why”.

-Aldo Leopold

Winter has long been held a special time for nature lovers. Just as nature study need not end as the sun goes down, or discontinue due to the season, we eagerly look forward to a time that it continues, despite the cold. The bookshelves at the Nature Center contain several field guides and handbooks that help us understand winter and nature’s response: winter botany, tracks and signs, winter birds, snow and ice, winds, storms, blizzards, etc. You’d be surprised how many animals and birds are active as the temperatures plummet and ice crystals form. And another Brown County State Park Winter Hike is planned to help you enjoy the great outdoors!

On Saturday, January 17, 2009 beginning at 9am, one of two hiking routes can be chosen by all hikers, Friends of the state park, visitors, lodge guests and local residents. Beginning at the Nature Center, the “Southern Loop Hike” takes all walkers along a closed park road into Strahl Valley and around Lake Strahl and return to the Nature Center (Trail #6). It is 3.5 miles in length. At the Strahl Shelter, local Boy Scout Troop 190 will prepare “s’mores” for a welcomed hiker snack. Hot coffee, tea and hot chocolate will be available from the Abe Martin Lodge. The scouts can also offer first aid, doggie snacks and helpful hiking tips. Donations accepted.

A second hike route is the “Woodland Hike”; it starts at the park’s Recreation Building, proceeds through Ogle Hollow Nature Preserve (Trail #5), around Lake Ogle (Trail #7), and return. It is 2.75 miles in length. At the Lake Strahl shelter, there’s more s’mores and hot drinks offered; on this route, at the Lake Ogle shelter. Hikers from years past have commented it’s a nice treat to be greeted by hot refreshments offered by happy scouts. Along both trails, hikers can talk with park interpreters on a variety of winter wildlife topics.

Don’t forget the Hiker’s Buffet breakfast at 7am at the Abe Martin Lodge for $8.99. This “Breakfast with the Naturalists” will give hikers a heads up on what to expect and what to look for along either trail. After the hike, The Hiker’s Buffet luncheon is served from 11am til 2pm and costs $9.99.

The popular and collectable Winter Hike patch and yearly chevron will be sold by the Friends of Brown County State Park at the lodge, starting at 11am. For more information, please call the Brown County State Park Nature Center at 812.988.5240.
